See Conn. Gen. Stat. §§1-200, et seq. The FOIA includes exemptions for, among other things, “trade secrets” and “commercial or financial information given in confidence, not required by statute.” See Conn. Gen. Stat. §1-210(b).

Instead, those particular sentences, paragraphs, pages or sections that a proposer believes to be exempt from disclosure under the FOIA must be specifically identified as such. Convincing explanation and rationale sufficient to justify each exemption consistent with Section 1-210(b) of the FOIA must accompany the proposal. The rationale and explanation must be stated in terms of the reasons the materials are legally exempt from release pursuant to the FOIA.

Confidential information must be separated and isolated from other material in the proposal, labeled CONFIDENTIAL, and submitted in a separate envelope and in a separate PDF. All proposal materials not placed in a separate envelope and PDF clearly marked as confidential will not be treated as confidential and will be made available for public view upon receipt of a FOIA request. Proposers should not request that their entire proposal, nor the majority of the proposal, be confidential and CHESLA reserves the right to reject any such proposal.

CHESLA has no obligation to initiate, prosecute or defend any legal proceeding or to seek a protective order or other similar relief to prevent disclosure of any information that is sought pursuant to a FOIA request. The proposer has the burden of establishing the availability of any FOIA exemption in any proceeding where it is an issue. In no event shall CHESLA or any of its officers, directors or employees have any liability for the disclosure of documents or information in CHESLA’s possession where CHESLA, or such officer, director or employee believes disclosure is required under the FOIA or other law.
